The seminar was convened by Tobom Nyori and Guni Muang, the two very dynamic faculty members of the parent department. The inaugural session was chaired by a number of academic luminaries from different corners of the country. The chief guest of the seminar was Dr Robindra Teron, Director, AYUSH and Folk Medicine. The other invited special guests were Dr Tasi Taloh, the Principal of the host institute, Dr Leki Sitang, the Vice-Principal of the institute, Professor G S Jha from Ranchi University addressed the august gathering as the keynote speaker. Later, two plenary speakers, Dr Bompi Riba from RGU, Arunachal Pradesh and Dr Tuhin Majumdar from Bankura University, West Bengal delivered their talk on different areas of Folk Literature & Culture. Dr Tuhin Majumdar from West Bengal joined the session online. Dr Tasi Taloh, the Principal in his short speech welcomed all the invitees and encouraged the Department of English to conduct more such programmes in future. Dr Sitang addressing the audience made his point very clear to preserve the genuine folktales of this land by avoiding any contamination. Dr R Teron in his deliberation tried to justify the need of such folktales and myths in the present day society. The Abstract volume of the seminar was released with a valid ISBN number tagged by the Rammohan Library, Ministry of Culture (Govt of India). The seminar was divided into two technical sessions chaired by Professor G S Jha. More than thirty papers were presented from Arunachal Pradesh and outside. Dr Biswarup Chatterjee, from Rampurhat College, Burdwan University (WB), Shreyas Chakraborty, RMC, West Bengal, Nabanita Chatterjee, Central University of Jharkhand, Sheha Majumdar from Kolkata and others gave the seminar the essence of a true national seminar. They also extended their heartfelt gratitude to the resource persons Dr Oken Lego, Professor & Head, Dept. of Hindi, RGU and Dr Arun Kumar Pandey, Associate Professor, Dept. of Hindi, RGU for accepting the invitation wholeheartedly. Dr D P Panda, the IQAC Coordinator of JNC also delivered a short speech on the importance of organizing such programmes under the banner of the IQAC. The programme was very engaging. The two academic stalwarts Prof Oken Lego and Prof A K Pandey discussed the length and breadth of the title and engaged the students of the department for a fruitful discussion. The entire programme was nicely anchored by Dr BanasiriPertin and her team. Dr Ing Perme, Dr Zebina Taki, Ms Mumne Perme, Dr H N Pandey and other faculty members of the host institution were also present during the academic deliberation.

05/04/2024	Plantation drive by Hillarian group at JNC	Plantation drive conducted by Hillarian group at JNC  PASIGHAT, Apr 05: In yet another engaging activity, JN College undertook a plantation-cum-beautification drive at its Upper campus. The drive was initiated and sponsored by the Hillarian Group, Pasighat. The group comprising stalwarts from different spheres, planted 40 oriental and fruit plants at the Upper campus in association with faculties of JNC. Principal Dr Tasi Taloh, who himself happens to be a member of the Hillarian Group, opined that such generosity shown by the senior elite members of the society motivated the next generation to offer positive quotients for the making of a new society filled with green earth and pure cosmos. Dr. Leki Sitang, VP, while welcoming the delegates of the group, praised the selfless humanitarian activities of the HG -- be it natural calamity, fire incidents, saving the earth, etc.. wherein, he said, that it had always shown a high watermark for the cause of society. Chairman of the Hillarian Group, B. Jamoh also spoke on the occasion and applauded the commitment of JNC for a green and clean campus.
